

Production:

The wine was made by Peter Lehmann (Dad) in his last year at the Saltram Winery before moving to what is now Peter Lehmann Wines. I have re-released this wine on his behalf.

Shiraz sourced from the Barossa.
Cabernet Sauvignon sourced from Langhorne Creek.

Colour:

Deep burnt toffee over red brick.

Nose:

Aniseed, toffee and fine aged brandy spirit initially assault the nose laid over incredibly developed caramelised Olorosso sherry characters with uber ripe plum preserve.

Palate:

The aniseed tang of fennel seed studded through rich plum fudge is lifted and cleansed by the old brandy spirit's knife like edge.

Surprisingly fresh and rich fruit characters display the rich fusion of varietal Cabernet cassis and Shiraz spicy red fruit. A time capsule of the '79 vintage to savour.

AD 2000
1979 V.P.

Back in 1979, my Dad (Peter Lehmann) was literally in the middle of the biggest move of his life. It's now the stuff of legend- the decision that saved many local growers and their vineyards at a pretty bleak time. Although ballsy, like all great gamblers Dad knew he held the right cards; a full house of great fruit! The AD 2000 is a time capsule of that pivotal vintage. It captures the essence of the 1979 vintage and passes it to us like a treasured memory- mellowed by time with all the good bits intact. The AD 2000 was made to be laid down... 30 years later I reckon it's more than ready and like my Dad, it's even better for all the extra years, Cheers!
